THE FIRST PRINCIPLES OF LAID-BACK COCKTAILS

"I'm still pretty dumb about girl stuff. For a while I said, 'Ah, girls are stupid.' But after seeing all these Jeanne Moreau movies, I think being a girl is where it's at. Like when I'm about thirty-five I'm gonna start wearing black cocktail dresses and become a real cunt."

— Patti Smith

1.1. Unshackle Yourself

You can't make a drink with ingredients you don't have. You can try to out-snob everyone and be extremely specific in brands, vintages, bottlings, measures, procedures. Such is the path to infinite injury. Let go. Relax. Don't be chained by the recipe.

Here, we're taking things easy. Some things are just rare, sometimes very hard or even impossible to find. Yet the essence of a good cocktail is that it has a robustness to it. Moreover, tastes differ. Respect the backbone of the recipe, not the frills.

Many bloody battles have been fought over the exact gin versus vermouth proportions in a dry martini. Legend has it that Winston Churchill merely wanted the vermouth to be present in the same room, instead of added to the drink; and that when the supply of vermouth ran out in WWII he acknowledged its absence in the room by nodding eastward. Roger Moore's recipe prescribes a full measure of Noilly Prat. Fine with me. He garnishes with three olives. I'd rather not. And 007's martini doesn't even contain gin. It's a vodka martini. Which is shaken, not stirred — utter blasphemy in the Church of Martini purists.

All these are just fine. There's plenty of leeway in cocktails. Many recipes are overly specific, which distracts from a cocktail's core structure. If it's a whiskey sour type cocktail, any blend and any sour will do. Does the Dom Pérignon 1955 merely serve the purpose of adding some fizz? Then any another dry sparkling white wine will work just as well. If the recipe calls for a herbal undertone and you don't happen to have Lillet Blanc available? Use another fortified herbal concocture. If the function of an addition is just adding some colour and a bit of sweet? Be creative.

1.2. Garnish is Optional

It's all about the drink. Don't sweat the small stuff; and much of it is small stuff.

1.3. Measures

In cocktail, ingredients are quite often measured in ounces. Another chapter in the 'anything but the metric system' folly. Anyway, an ounce, short oz, is 60 milliliters, short 60ml. Or 6 centiliters (6cl).

One other measure often used is the bar spoon, also known as tea spoon. For 'Muricans, it's about 1/10th of your average gerbil. (A bottle of soda, though, contains about 1/4th of an average domestic shorthair felis catus.)

Anyway: a bar spoon is 5ml. A table spoon is three bar spoons: 15ml (about 18 peanuts for the metric-allergic). And a pinch is a pinch, a dash is a dash, and a splash a splash.

1.4. What's With The Glasses, Babe?

Dozens (of not more) highly specific glasses are used for cocktails out there. I've simplified (well, almost) to three:

1. the cocktail glass, also known as the martini glass. See cover. Holds about 2.5-3 oz, say 160ml.
2. the (whiskey) tumbler or rocks glass. Holds about 3-3.5 oz, say 180-200ml.
2. the highball or longdrink glass. Holds about 4-5oz, say 250-300ml.

These will do for me. But hey, if you enjoy vast arrays of exotic glassware, don't let that get in your way. And don't let me stop you sloshing your G&T's from a fish bowl!

CLASSICS

INGREDIENTS - BRANDS AND SUBSTITUTES

7.1. Substitutes

- Anis Liqueur ⇌ Anisette ⇌ Sambuca ⇌ Ouzo ⇌ Raki ⇌ Arak ⇌ Pastis ⇌ Pernod ⇌ Absinthe.
Absinthe carries a bitter (probably the wormwood) that the pure aniseed-based spirits don't.
Different, not necessarily unequal to the task.
- Applejack ⇌ Apple Brandy ⇌ Calvados.
- Campari ⇌ Bruto Americano ⇌ Aperol.
- Cynar ⇌ Fernet Branca ⇌ Unicum ⇌ Amaro Montenegro ⇌ Amaro Averna ⇌ Amaro Nardini.
- Green Chartreuse ⇌ Cloosterbitter, a bit stronger/more aromatic vs. a notch less.
Other options: Strega, Bénédictine, an Anisette if called for.
- White Crème de Menthe ⇌ Peppermint Schnapps.
Green Crème de Menthe can also be used. It has a different, you know, colour.
- Drambuie ⇌ Glavya.
- Dubonnet ⇌ Byrrh ⇌ Red Vermouth.
- Gomme Syrup ⇌ Simple Syrup. This is a generic replacement. Same taste, without the silky texture. If you can get your hands on Arabic Gum, make a syrup a gomme one by stirring in gum when simmering the syrup.
- Gin ⇌ Jonge Jenever, slightly more herbal vs. slightly fuller bodied.
Other options: Akvavit, Cachaça, Pinga, Obstler, Quetsch Schnapps, Slivovitz, Eau de Vie, Vodka, White Rum, Tequila. Whiskey tends to get boozy.
- Lemon Vodka ⇌ Citroenjenever.
- Lillet Blanc ⇌ Sweet White Vermouth, the latter is slightly sweeter and carries notes of citrus.
Other options: Cocchi Americano, Sweet White Port, Sherry Medium, Amaro Angeleno.
- Maraschino Liqueur ⇌ Kirsch.
Cherry Liqueur, Sweet White Port or Sherry Medium will do if they have to.
- Peychaud's Bitters ⇌ Angostura.
- Cream Sherry ⇌ Sherry Medium ⇌ Tawny Port ⇌ Marsala. Ballpark stuff.
- Dry Vermouth ⇌ Dry White Port ⇌ Sherry Fino. Ballpark stuff.
- Sweet Red Vermouth ⇌ Red Port ⇌ Ruby Port ⇌ Sherry Medium ⇌ Lillet Rouge. Ballpark stuff.
Other options: Averna, Madeira, Málaga, Marsala.
- Sparkling Water ⇌ Club Soda ⇌ Selzer Water ⇌ Queen Soda ⇌ San Pellegrino ⇌ Perrier ⇌ Q.
- Sparkling Wine ⇌ Champagne ⇌ Crémant de Quelquoi ⇌ Cava Brut ⇌ Franciacorta ⇌ Prosecco.
As long as they're dry. Hey, it's about the fizz.
- Rye Whiskey ⇌ Bourbon, slightly drier vs. slightly sweeter and a tad more full-bodied.
- Xeres ⇌ Sherry Fino.

7.2. Brands

Thy boate, whatever floateth it.

- Akvavit: Aguardente, Grappa, Marc.
- Almond Liqueur: Amaretto di Saronno, Orgeat.
- Brandy: any Armagnac, Cognac, Metaxa, Vieux, Fundador, Soberano, Veterano, Vecchia Romagna, Weinbrand. I'm irrationally fond of Fundador (blame Hemingway) but life's too short for fussing.
- Champagne: Taittinger Brut, Bollinger Brut, Billecart-Salmon Brut, Pol Roger Brut, Dom Pérignon Brut, G.H.Mumm, Perrier-Jouët Grand Brut, Piper-Heidsieck Brut. In a cocktail, I prefer the fizz of a Franciacorta or Crémant over Champagne itself (while still frowning upon snobbery, in case you forgot).
- Coffee Liqueur: Café Marakesh, Kalhùà, Tia Maria, Mr. Black Cold Brew.
- Irish Cream: Baileys, Coole Swan, Saint Brendan's.
- Crème de Banane, Banana Liqueur: Tempus Fugit, De Kuyper, Pisang Ambon, Marie Brizard.
- Crème de Cacao, Chocolate Liqueur: Tempus Fugit, Mozart, De Kuyper Dark, Giffard, Marie Brizard.
- White Crème de Menthe: Giffard Menthe Pastille, Leroux, De Kuyper.
- Franciacorta: Contadi Castaldi Zéro, Corte Fusia Franciacorta Brut, Barone Pizzini Bagnadore.
- Gin: Beefeater, Bombay Sapphire, Hendrick's, Tanqueray No. 10.
- Orange Liqueur, Orange Bitters, Curaçao Bitters: Triple Sec, Cointreau, Grand Marnier, Orange Curaçao, Patron Citrongé, Parfait d'Amour — or simply Orange Zest, maybe with a dash of Brandy.
- Passion Fruit Liqueur: Passoã, De Kuyper.
- Scotch blends: Loch Lomond Signature, Islay Mist, Clan Campbell, Famous Grouse, Cutty Sark.
- Dry Vermouth: Noilly Prat (Extra) Dry, Dolin Dry, Mancini Secco, Yzaguirre, Lo Fi, Tximista Blanco.
- Vodka: Stolichnaya, Absolut, Finlandia, Smirnoff.
